Comments: (1) The work presents an eye detection method using dual camera on the embedded system, which is of good contribution.

(2) In the Introduction, the incremental contribution of the work is suggested to be highlighted.

(3) The "the embedded system" should be specified in the Introduction, in order to make the focusing problem clear.

(4) What is a new contribution made by the work to the detection method? If yes, please make it clear in Section 2.

(5) The implementation steps are suggested to be clearly formulated, which can make the detection method and implementation process clearer to understand.

(6) More discussions on the results are suggested to be highlighted, in order to highlight the advantage of the work.

(7) Some comparison with extant methods is suggested to be added.

(8) The conclusion part is suggested to be improved, in order to summarize the contribution of the work.

(9) Some syntax errors exist in the manuscript, such as the "...two embedded camera system..." on Page 2.

Please carefully check the whole expression.
